To whom it may concern,

I am writing to share my experience with Veronika DOMINIKOVA's performance, a member of our team at Kiwi.com. I worked with her as a Product Design Lead for Ancillaries from the end of 2022 until the beginning of 2024 as VP of Design and Research.

Veronika joined our ancillary design team during a critical phase when the product team was under massive pressure to change its modus operandi, scale our ancillary offering, and achieve ambitious targets. Despite the challenges, she demonstrated remarkable resilience, effectively guiding a team of three product designers, a content designer, and a UX researcher within our broader ancillary product team by balancing customer needs and business targets. Veronika played an essential role in facilitating the changes in ownership and execution of scaling our ancillary offerings across our product customer journey. She also demonstrated her positive attitude and ability to adapt to continuous changes. Her facilitation skills enabled her to collaborate with product managers and engage directly with C-level executives in frequent working sessions. Veronika also demonstrated hands-on product design skills with an emphasis on visual design.

Veronika is a strategic thinker and a passionate designer with a good blend of technical expertise, leadership acumen, and an overall collaborative spirit. She is able to understand complex challenges and work closely with cross-functional team members to build a solution.

I am confident that Veronika will continue to succeed in her career and endorse her for future challenges she seeks. Should you have any questions about Veronika, please don't hesitate to contact me at [redacted].

Thank you,

Vladimir Končar
VP of Design and Research
